

Rehab Consultant

Pacific Medical, Inc was established in 1986 with corporate headquarters in Tracy, California and is a leading distributor for orthopedic medical devices. We provide durable medical equipment, manufacture our own line of braces, as well as sell surgical instruments and implants to orthopedic surgeons servicing seven western states. We provide our rehab services through physician referrals. The Rehabilitation Consultant will be responsible for the sales and promotion of all Pacific Medical rehabilitation products. Products that will be represented are post operative and post injury products such as functional bracing, soft goods, continuous passive motion machines and cold therapy units. Our product lines are orthopedically driven and ultimately sold to hospitals and surgery centers after the physicians have realized their benefit. We are dedicated to the advancement of patient care through excellent service and product technology.

We have an immediate opportunity to join our growing orthopedic medical device company and are currently seeking a candidate for a Rehab Consultant in the Territories listed below. The candidate must have sales experience - in medical or pharmaceutical arenas. Must be hard working, detail-oriented, and a self-starter. Needs to be driven and have a passion to be the best at what they do. Needs to have a high regard for personal integrity, loyalty, and trustworthiness. The applicant will submit to a detailed background check. This is an excellent opportunity to get into a fast paced, competitive industry with a company that is growing and is a market leader.
